"August Flower"

What is It For?

This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER for?" As easily answered as asked: It is for DYSPEPSIA. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia.

A Thought for Mothers.

Many parents are not particular enough to have the floors warm during the winter. This is especially necessary where there are little children in the room. I believe that there are many children who actually suffer with the cold in rooms where the older people complain of the heat. This is more apt to be the case where the elder people walk around, thus keeping up the circulation of the blood, which prevents the feet from becoming cold as they would if sitting still. But think of the little children playing about on the cold floors. For their benefit let me give you a few hints. Wind long, narrow strips of board with strips of thick flannel or pants cloth, and fit them on the casings so that the doors will close against them on being shut. Bank the walls well with paste cloth and then paper over all the breaks in the plastering. If the floor boards are shrunken, leaving cracks, paste paper over the cracks, then put on several layers of paper under the carpet. If in a room where there are no carpets, mend the old floor with a new one.

Dress the little child who must play on the floor first in a flannel garment, covering it from neck to heels. Over this put a waist made of heavy flannel or the best piece of the husband's coats or pants. A skirt of the same may be sewed to this waist. Like the idea of divided skirts for little girls to wear over the underdrawers. I make them exactly as the divided skirts are made for older people.

With the union undergarment, the divided skirt made of heavy flannel, the skirt and waist just described (the waist should have long sleeves), a princess dress of flannel and a long sleeved gingham apron, the little girl is warmly clad for almost any house or climate, provided the feet are dressed as sensibly.—House-keeper.

Buying Things Beforehand.

"Do you know," said a woman who is a good and close shopper, "I never buy a thing directly in season? When one of my children needs a cloak, for instance, a winter one, let us say, I wait until the season for fall cloaks is over or just about over, when I look around among the good shops and select some dark or wintry looking cloak of good weight. Such a one is sure to be found by a little careful searching; it has been marked down to a really low price, yet is of excellent style, good material and finish, and with a twenty cent sheet of wool wadding fitted inside, or wool with a charcoal jacket, becomes a handsome and suitable winter cloak. It is far more satisfactory than the cheap cloaks offered as winter ones, and the cost is about two-thirds.

"I buy the children's hats in February for the next winter; the styles do not radically change for the little folks' wear, and I get much better value for the money. In the same way, in the spring, just as the merchants are putting away their heavy underwear, I supply the family needs for the next cold season. In February most shoe stores put out bargains that are such; I carry in my purse the sizes of every member of my household, including even my husband's, and when I discover a pair that suits one of us at a low price I take it. It does not take any more time and I save much money by this system, and we have much better clothes than by selecting everything in the height of its season."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Some Women Lawyers.

"Pier, Mrs. Pier and the three Misses Pier, attorneys and counselors at law; Mrs. Kate Pier, United States court commissioner."

So runs the announcement of a most remarkable law firm in Milwaukee. Some years ago Mrs. Kate Pier, the only woman magistrate in the United States, found herself involved in business perplexities so intricate as to render it cheaper for her to become a lawyer herself than to hire one. Acting under the advice of her counsel, she entered upon the study of law, which she completed in company with her eldest daughter at the Wisconsin State university. By a recent act of the legislature Mrs. Pier was made court commissioner, and received the honor to sit among the baristers, the first woman in the world thus honored except Portia. Kate Pier, Jr., is the trial or jury member of the firm. Miss Caroline and Miss Harriet Pier were graduates from the law department of the university in July. The former is making a special study of admiralty law. The latter is in the office with her mother and sister.—New York Sun.

Practical Work by a Woman's Club.

The Boston branch of the Vassar Students' Aid society shows its appreciation of the privileges its members enjoyed at college in a very practical manner by trying to give to other women the same privileges. They offer a scholarship of $300 to that applicant from localities represented in the society who passes the best entrance examination in June, 1892, for Vassar. To raise money for this object in part the society has established courses of lectures free to members of the society, with a slight admission fee for outsiders. The first lecture of the winter course was delivered in the parlors of the New England Woman's club by Rev. William Eliot Griffin, D. D., on the subject, "A Summer Ramble in the Dutch and English Holland," with stereopticon views, illustrating the Netherlands and the eastern counties of England. Subsequent lectures will be given in January and March by Fraulein Antoinette Stolle and Colonel T. W. Higginson.—Boston Globe.

A Woman's Press Club.

The Press League, of Chicago, like the Women's Press club, of New York, is composed entirely of women earning their living by newspaper writing, and was organized for the purpose of co-operation in acquiring and disseminating information. Until the close of the exposition the headquarters of the league will be in Chicago.

Death of an Old Pitsaia Islander.

A Norfolk island correspondent reports the death, at the age of ninety-four, of Mr. Buffett, an old and much respected member of the island community. He had been connected with the Pitsaia community for the long period of nearly twenty years.

Early in the twenties (1822) the English whaler Cyprus, on her way home after an extended and successful cruise, and before starting on the then lonely and perilous passage around the Horn, called at Pitsaia island for fresh provisions and to recruit. Just at that time the island elders began to feel the want of a school teacher for the young community fast growing up, and expressed their wishes to that effect to the captain of the Cyprus, who, without hesitation, willingly agreed to help them, if possible.

The result was that Buffett, then a young man on board, of fair education, was summoned, and he gladly fell in with the wishes of his captain and the community, went ashore with all his belongings and thenceforward threw in his lot with the islanders. He was not long, however, a schoolmaster, as on the advent of Mr. Nobbs, some few years later, a majority of the parents wished for a change, and of course Buffett had to acquiesce.

Mr. Buffett's residence, even on peaceful Pitsaia, was not without its exciting episodes. In 1861 occurred, at the instance of the English government, the exodus to Tahiti, and the community's return some months later curtailed through sickness of many of its members. Then again, in 1886, during the "reign" of Mr. Joshua Hill, Buffett and his two compatriots, Nobbs and Evans, together with their families, were for a short period banished to the Gambier islands by this arbitrary gentleman, where the exiles were kindly treated, and remained until the storm blew over. Lastly, the final departure from loved old Pitsaia to the new home at Norfolk island, 8,000 miles away.

Buffett was an ingenious worker in wood, and his handiworks in the shape of cabinets and such like are widely distributed, the old families legend, "made from the wood of John Aspin's house," being always kept up and no doubt adding attraction to the goods. Until three or four years ago Mr. Buffett had the full use of all his faculties, but for the last eighteen months he has been totally oblivious to passing events.—Chilian Times.

A Soldier's Bible.

While Miss Winter, of Emmittsburg, was overlooking her childhood's treasures, she came across an old Testament which she found on the site of a soldier's camp near there during the war, after the soldiers had left for the field of Gettysburg. On examining the book her eyes fell on the name "Samuel Wolcott," (Griffin's wife, who married N. Y.), and Miss Winter decided to write to the address, thinking the owner would like to recover the book. A few days she received a reply from Mrs. Weeden, of Clifton, N. J., stating that she was a sister of the soldier and the only living member of a large family. She said her brother had returned home from the army in 1863, and died in 1864, and Miss Winter's letter had been forwarded to her as his nearest of kin. Mrs. Weeden seemed much pleased at the idea of recovering this long lost memento of her dead brother, and Miss Winter sent the Testament to her.—Baltimore Sun.

A Chapter on Oysters.

"Oysters are fatter this year than I ever saw them before," said a restaurant oyster opener. "I don't know why, but usually the fatter an oyster is the poorer the flavor. This is because the fat oyster has generally been out of the water too long and has been fed. That is not wholly the reason this year. They are fatter anyhow. "An oyster is best on the half shell, about twenty-four to forty-eight hours after he is out of salt water. Eaten before that time they are apt to give cramps. Yes, the male oyster is the best, but we don't come across a male more than an average of once in fifty times."—New York Herald.

Why the Opening Was Delayed.

The opening of the recent Irish congress at Rhylin, Wales, was delayed for half an hour by the nonappearance of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and everybody wondered what had happened. The archbishop had lost his crozier. This emblem was locked up in a leather case, and was carried off by a servant, who thought it was a gun, and locked it up in a room full of breechloaders and cartridges. Whether the congress would have been adjourned if it had not been discovered is a question which does not call for immediate reply.—Christian World.

Brain Boarded a Hand Car.

A section man was coming into Columbus, Ind., on a hand car on the Pennsylvania road, when he was attacked by a large bear. A terrible struggle was in progress at the time. The man and bear had a terrific struggle, but the man finally struck the bear over the head with an iron crowbar, and as the animal rolled from the car the man got it in motion and escaped. He was badly scratched and bruised, but not seriously injured.—Cor. Philadelphia Record.

Blew Open an Unlocked Safe.

Cracksmen played a singular joke on themselves in blowing open the safe in L. G. Blair's store, Rio, Ill. Mr. Blair has been the victim of so many robberies that he has been leaving the safe open and sending the money to Galesburg. The burglars drilled into and blew open the empty unlocked safe.—Cor. THE STATE BOARD OF ASSESSORS' ACT.

The State Board of Assessors and Equalization created by Act of the last Legislature, horizontally raised the valuation of property in the several counties of the State from five to twenty-five per cent. While there was doubtless some reason for the discrimination, some counties have been raised five times as much as others, yet no cause was publicly assigned for it.

It appears that Lincoln county, where the horizontal raise was ten per cent., repudiated the Act of the State Board and collected taxes on the valuation made by the County Assessor. Hon. G. O. Sawyer, an attorney of Lincoln county, has been corresponding with General R. M. Clarke on the subject, and the Pioche Record quotes General Clarke as saying:

"An examination and study of the 'Act of the Legislature—passed in 1891 and commonly known as the 'State Board of Assessors and Equalization Act,' and of the proceedings of said board in assessing and equalizing taxes, has brought me to the belief, that the action of the board, both in respect of assessment and equalization is illegal and can be defeated by a proceeding in court. The remedy in a tax suit, I think, is certain against the board of assessors and equalization. The special point relied upon, is that the board exceeded its jurisdiction in raising the railroad and general assessment for State and county purposes in one order, no notice having been given to the owners of railroad property. There are also grave objections to the constitutionality of the Act, but this position need not be urged."

In Idaho, where there is a State Board of Equalization, with powers somewhat similar to those of the Nevada Board, suit was brought to test the constitutionality of an Act of the Board in raising the assessment of Bingham county sheep to $2 50 per head and of cattle ten per cent. and reducing the assessment of the Utah Northern Railroad $3,000 per mile and of the Oregon Short Line Railroad $1,000 per mile. The Board of County Commissioners held that the State Board had no authority to equalize property by classes and the Supreme Court sustained that view of the case and issued a writ ordering the State Board to appear and have its actions reviewed. The Railroad Company paid the taxes upon the basis fixed by the State Board and took receipts therefor. Now it will be called upon to pay the original assessment which amounts to over $100,000 more. Of course the company will not pay the original assessment unless compelled by the courts to do so, and litigation is certain to result, the end of which no one can foretell.

If Lincoln county, in this State, refuses to pay the horizontal raise of ten per cent., the State Board will have to commence proceedings to collect it, which will probably determine the constitutionality of the Act.

NO WAR WITH CHILI.

Peace reigns in Warsaw. Senator Montt, Chilean Minister at Washington, is a brother of Jorge Montt, the new President of Chili. Senator Montt is a diplomat, and he believes in settling the dispute with Chili at the festive board in Washington rather than with iron clads and dynamite guns at Valparaiso. Last Saturday he gave a dinner in honor of Secretary Blaine and wife. The party was composed largely of public men who have a great interest in having amicable relations restored between the United States and Chili. The guests were Secretary Blaine and daughter, Senators Morgan and Stewart, Representative McGraw, ex Mayor Grace of New York, Minister Romero and wife of Mexico, the Argentine Minister, ex-Minister Foster and several others of more or less note. Senator Stewart was a great friend of the Congressional party, Senator Morgan is a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations, Representative McGraw is on the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and last but not least, Secretary Blaine is the power behind the President, much greater than Mr. Harrison himself. The gentlemen were of course royally entertained, and they left the mansion of Minister Montt determined to prevent war with Chili.

Now the reports coming from Washington are not colored near so red as they were before the dinner took place. Secretary Tracy says no warlike preparations are being made, no men of war have been ordered to Chilean waters and he has no doubt of an amicable settlement of the Chilean difficulty. Two of the Chileans implicated in the assault on the Baltimore's sailors have been convicted, and an apology will be tendered the United States. Turkey and champagne accomplished more in an hour without loss of life than all the vessels of the navy could have done in a month in settling the Chilean question, and the strategic movement of Senator Montt proves that he thoroughly understands diplomacy.

ARTHUR AND HARRISON.

Notwithstanding the fact that comparisons are said to be odious, the St. Louis Republic compares a year of Arthur's administration, just before Cleveland's, with a year of Harrison's administration, just after Cleveland's administration. The figures used in the Republic's comparison are as follows:

In 1889-90 the ordinary expenditures were $265,408,187. In 1890-91 the ordinary expenditures were $421,804,870. Mr. Arthur kept the current expenditure

($188,000,000) inside the current receipts. Mr. Harrison's expenditures exceed the total receipts by over $97,000,000. To prevent a deficit he has had to use $63,000,000 of the trust fund for the redemption of the national bank notes. The Republic concludes that Mr. Cleveland's successor costs the country $100,000,000 more a year than his predecessor did.

Several of our esteemed contemporaries, who let partisan zeal outrun their discretion, are printing an article from the New York Press, which among other things says: "The platform of the Republican party is broad enough for every American, native or adopted, to stand on." While we do not wish to be inquisitive, yet as an American citizen and a resident of Nevada, we would just like to know what place on the Republican platform is strong enough to hold a person who honestly favors, what the minute were built for, the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver?

BY TELEGRAPH.

Chilean Affairs.

WASHINGTON, December 28.—At the War Department neither Acting Secretary Grant nor Major General Schofield, who would certainly know, had any information to appoint General Miles to command the army in the event of war with Chili.

In fact, the only sign of warlike preparation visible at the Executive Department is considered in the order issued Saturday for the immediate preparation of the new 12-inch gun, just completed at the navy yard here, for transportation to California together with 4,000 pounds of powder and 11,000 shells.

Senator Montt, the Chilean Minister, called at the Department of State at noon. He had an interview with Secretary Blaine for half an hour.

During the afternoon Representatives Lodge and Boutelle called at the Navy Department. They are both Republican members of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, the Chairman of which is Representative Herbert, who is absent from the city. In the House the Naval Committee has charge of all matters relating to appropriations for naval services, while in the Senate the concurrent action of the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on Naval Affairs is usually necessary to secure provision for any navy expenditures.

Secretary Tracy has been in communication with the members of each of these committees during the day, but with what purpose is not definitely known.

An officer of the Department, speaking of the consultations, said: "It means just this, that we are abiding by Washington's maxim, 'In time of peace prepare for war.' We do not believe there will be war, but if the Administration failed to exercise all of its power in the matter of preparation it would be open to severe criticism if hostilities actually ensue."

An officer of the State Department said to-night that so far as he was aware nothing had been received from President Montt. The Chilean Minister also remains officially unadvised of anything pertaining to the inauguration.

Secretary Tracy said to-night that the U. S. Ship San Francisco which has arrived at San Diego, Cal., was there for the purpose of engaging in target practice.

Herriek Makes a Statement. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., December 28.—Timothy Herriek, father of Albert Herriek, the fugitive New York Central brakeman, saw his son in New York Saturday and had a long talk with him. He says he urged his son to go to the railroad officials and tell his story, but he would not do so because of the excited state of public feeling. His father got him to make a written statement which was sent to Superintendent McCoy to-day.

In it young Herriek says that when his train slowed up he placed two torpedoes on the rails and took his lights and started down the track to stop the Croton local, then nearly due. When half way down he placed one torpedo on the rail and then walked on to the station. When he got there he placed his lights on the platform, the red light showing south, and went in to ask how the local was. The agent did not know and Herriek sat down and remained there for from three to five minutes, when he heard the train coming and started for the door, believing it to be the local. As soon as he saw the train he knew it was the express. He grabbed up his light and tried to attract the engineer's attention, but it was too late. He followed on up the track and soon met a man who told him about the wreck. He didn't deem it prudent to go to the wreck, so turned about and came to New York. He adds that he fully realizes the awful position he is placed in and can only say he felt sure the train to come first was the local.

Grand Jury Report.

SAN BERNARDINO, December 28.—The Grand Jury filed a final report to-day. The report commends the county officials in the conduct of office and finds an honest administration of affairs. It criticizes the Supervisors for levying a direct tax to build a court-house. The report recommends changes in the manner of keeping the books in the Recorder's office and in allowing claims before the Supervisors. Fifteen indictments were found against parties charged with crime.

The lightning championship of the world lies between Myer and Carney, and we are anxious to meet the English champion either in this country or England."

In 1858 he removed to Kansas, and in 1859 was a member of the Leavenworth Constitutional Convention. Subsequently he read law and was admitted to the bar. After service in the Legislature of Kansas he joined the Union army as Second Lieutenant. He rose to the rank of Colonel. Mr. Plumb served in after years in the Kansas Legislature, one term as Speaker. From 1877 to the time of his death he was in the United States Senate.

A Monumental Yarn.

Of all the Munchausenlike stories that are going the rounds, this one is by no means the most trifling: "Eight years ago H. H. Bowles, of Cherryfield, Me., planted in his garden a small flowering shrub. Near the shrub grew a green gage and a cherry tree. Last year the shrub put forth cherry blossoms, but bore no fruit. This year it produced luscious fruit of the green gage variety." —Philadelphia Ledger.

LAST NIGHT IN THE GLOAMING.

I heard the birds singing last night in the gloaming. Their music was sweet as a heavenly choir. They twittered and chirped as they came from their roosting. And each tried the loudest to tune its own lyre.

The robin was there in its nest in the willow; 'Twas chirping its birding a sweet melody. The bluebird was swooning its soft, downy pillow. And calling its mate still up in the sky.

The daisies were nodding out in the green meadow. Their round, golden eyes were beginning to close. The larkspur and buttercup, down by the brookside, Were saying good night to the rose.

Thou, who was sinking behind the green hillsides, Peeped out from a cloud and winked his red eye; Methinks he was whispering the bright clouds around him— "I am going to rest now, I'll say goodby."

The shadows grew deeper. The birds were soon sleeping; The flowers had closed their sweet petals so white over the mountain the crescent moon peeping. Seemed to answer the sun—"Good night, friend, good night."

Colonel J. W. Moore of Elko was a passenger on yesterday's train from San Francisco.

The mercury at Elko Christmas day went to 35 degrees below zero, says the Independent.

Bob Currier, Jr., while out deer hunting at Pyramid Lake last week, killed five deer and saw seventeen. He got three out of one hand.

Sunday morning a heavy shower of rain laid the dust. Sunday evening a snow squall whitened the ground and cooled the atmosphere.

There are six or eight Republican Senators, two of whom are from Nevada, that detest the President and are never seen at the White House.

Train No. 4, the west-bound mail, was six hours late yesterday morning, and No. 2, the west-bound express, did not arrive until 6 o'clock last evening.

The Dayton Times says Lieutenant Governor Ponce has secured an Indian housing unit from Mrs. Lovely and intends to present it to the State University.

Battery No. 7 of the Young American Quartz Mill at Sierra City was blown up last Wednesday night. It was the third attempt made in the last month to destroy the battery.

The San Francisco Examiner and Salt Lake Herald published magnificent Christmas editions. The product of the metropolis of Utah compared very favorably with that of the monarch of the dairies.

The Dayton Times says: Angus McLeod's hay stacks took fire last Sunday evening, and about 240 tons of hay, a wagon and derrick were burned. It is thought the fire caught from a careless smoker's pipe.

Sunday evening Owen Lytle, the proprietor of the 5 cent beer saloon opposite the First National Bank building, took a shot at a spaniard named Jim Wilson over a game of cards. There was no damage done and no arrests were made.

James Stanaway, yard-master here, received a dispatch yesterday informing him that James Hoy, a brother to R. H. and John Hoy, was run over by a locomotive and killed at Sacramento yesterday. He leaves a wife and one child. The body will be brought to Truckee on this morning's train for interment.

The Sentinel says: "The Eureka Consolidated dividend of 25 cents per share, declared Tuesday, will be paid January 5. To date this company has paid $6,005,000 in dividends, and levied $630,000 in assessments. The capital stock is 50,000 shares, of the par value of $5,000,000; consequently the dividends declared exceed the capital by $5,000."

An unknown man was struck by a train while crossing the bridge on the Humboldt east of Boonville. His legs were broken and his head crushed, and he was thrown off the bridge onto the ice thirty or forty feet below. He had $75 on his person, but nothing was found by which he could be identified, though he evidently lived in the vicinity.

Johnson Dixon was seriously injured and narrowly escaped with his life while digging a well at S. O. Wells' ranch last Saturday. He had filled the bucket with gravel and as it reached the top it became detached from the rope and fell with its contents to the bottom of the well, twenty-two feet from the surface. Mr. Dixon was severely bruised, but managed to evade the bucket and the large rock which fell back into the well. Dr. Phillips, who was called to attend him, thinks he will be around again all right in a short time.

It is noted that Joe Klein, a son of Jake Klein of Carson, has perished in the snow while attempting to cross the mountains. The Placerville Democrat of the 19th instant says young Klein and George Bosworth left Placerville on December 13th to go to Lake Valley. The snow was four feet deep on the summit, and, as the men have not been heard from, the belief is prevalent that they died in the mountains. Jake Klein has engaged two expert mountaineers to search for his son and has offered a reward for his recovery.

EUREKA FOR SILVER.

Nevada Has Been Duped Long Enough. The Sentinel says: "Whatever other people and other sections may do Eureka is going to vote a silver ticket next year if one can be found to vote for. This feeling is general and applies to both parties. We have stood all the monkeying we are ever going to stand from the gold bugs no matter in what guise they come. We will vote 'or Old Nick if he be for silver. Nevada has been starving long enough. We want a square meal before we die."

A FINE RESIDENCE BURNED.

Dusan Church's Home on Second Street is Consumed While All Are Away—Fire Starts.

Sunday evening, at about 10:30 o'clock, Fred Hagerman, who was returning to his home, discovered flames issuing from the rear of Dusan Church's pretty residence on the corner of E and Second streets, Towning's Addition. He immediately gave the alarm, but before the fire bell could be reached and rung, nearly half a mile away, and the steam got out, the flames had attained such headway that all hope of saving the building was over. It was but three minutes from the time the bell rang before the fire engine left the engine house, and in crossing the railroad on Sierra street it came within an ace of being struck by the yard engine, which was running rapidly up the track to be of assistance if possible. Finally the steamer reached the burning dwelling, but too late to put out anything but the burning embers. But a few articles of furniture were saved. Mr. Church and wife were away from home when the fire caught, and the fire only got back in time to see the beautiful residence a ruin. It is not known how it caught, but the supposition is from a defective flue. The house was one of the finest in the Towning Addition and was only built about two years ago. It cost $7,000 besides the furniture, and was insured for $5,000.

The fire Sunday night demonstrates that there should be fire bells in those portions of town which are remote from the central one on the plaza. Many dollars worth of property might thus be saved by a timely outlay. A few minutes time at a fire often means thousands of dollars difference in what is saved or lost. Should a fire catch, as Sunday night, in upper Towning's Addition, or still worse, in that portion of town near the Bishop's school, five, six to eight minutes would be required to reach the alarm, and in that time a fire usually gains such headway that the building first caught, to say the least, is doomed.

LOST UNDER GROUND.

The Terrible Experience of an Old Miner

A dispatch from Georgetown, El Dorado county, California, tells of the terrible experience of Mr. Fraser, a brother of Jack Fraser of Reno, in an old placer mine. Two weeks ago yesterday Mr. Fraser who owns a claim to an old river channel at Cement Hill, a mile and a half from Georgetown, left for the mine, telling his wife not to expect him home Saturday night if it were storming as he would stay in his cabin near the mouth of the tunnel in which he was mining. Saturday proved to be stormy and his family was not anxious concerning him, thinking he had stayed at the mine. As he did not get home Sunday they thought as it was Christmas week he would stay at the mine till Thursday, and spend Christmas at home. However, they became anxious and went to the mine. They discovered that he had not been at the cabin for several days, and they immediately repaired to the mine. There they found him alive but completely exhausted about a mile from the mouth of the tunnel.

His candle went out and the matches he had with him would not light, so he spent ten days in the bowels of the earth wandering about without food or clothing, except the light working suit he had on when he entered the mine. He fasted on the piece of candle which he had and suffered much more from cold and thirst than from hunger. In telling his experience, he says:

"What I suffered mentally I cannot describe. Part of the time it seemed as if I were surrounded by hundreds of candles, then sometimes I could see the sky above, dotted with stars, with occasional clouds floating by. While I knew this was false, yet it seemed so real that I was alarmed lest I was losing my reason. Altogether, there has never been gold enough taken from the mine to hire me to pass through such an experience again."

A PISTOL TRAGEDY.

Ben Pierce Shoots Patsy Hampton

Probably Fatally—No Cause Assigned for the Act.

Sunday night about midnight Ben Pierce and Patsy Hampton were noticed standing at the bar of the Russ House engaged in an animated conversation, but which did not attract special attention and none knew that a tragedy was impending. Suddenly the muffled report of a revolver was heard, and Hampton staggered back a few paces, saying "I am shot." Pierce had placed his hand in his coat pocket and treacherously shot the other through it. Immediately upon shooting he pulled the pistol from his pocket and handing it to a friend, left the place. Hampton was hit just below the heart and the wound is possibly fatal. Yesterday Officer Coats arrested Pierce and locked him up pending examination when the result of Hampton's wounds are known. So far as can be ascertained the shooting was without provocation. Drs. Lewis and Phillips yesterday probed Hampton's wound but were unable to locate the ball. Up to late last evening he was getting along as well as could be expected with some hopes of recovering.

Is Marriage a Failure?

Who shall decide it? We have concluded long ago that it is a success every time with Simmons' Liver Regulator in the house. It promotes harmony and goodnature by preventing an attack of the worst enemy, indigestion and dyspepsia, which make discord in the brightest home. You will find the Regulator a good remedy for biliousness and sick headache. It is the household friend.

The Wilber Company Draw Good Houses in Virginia City.

The Wilber Company play a three night's engagement at the Opera House, opening next Thursday night. The Virginia Enterprise says of this company:

"Notwithstanding the inclement weather of last night a fair audience attended the Opera House to witness the Wilber Company in 'The Streets of New York.' All were highly delighted with the performance. James R. McCann in the character of Badger is very strong and he acceptably fills the part. S. Philco as Gid on Bloodgood was thoroughly up in his role, while Walter Redmond as Mark Livingston was perfection. Louis Egan and Miss Gessie Gardner as old Puffy and his wife, street hawkers, presented their parts in an artistic manner, and kept the audience in a roar with their comicities. Miss Lizzie Kendall made an excellent Alida Bloodgood, while Miss Kate Wilber as Lucy Fairweather won the sympathies of the audience by her presentation of that role, and Miss Olive Martin, James Turner, George Wallace and the remaining members of the company performed their minor parts very creditably."
